HOMAGE IS PAID TO WARS' DEAD AT SUNDAY SERVICES

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL SERVICES ON THURSDAY

Colonel E. Polk Johnson, Louisville
Editor and Historian, is Chief Speaker.

Two Public Services Are Held and
Two Days Are Observed As Memorials to Those Who Have Died
In Defense of Country.

Memorial Day has never yet been observed so completely as it was observed this year in Maysville. Sunday was the day designated in the President's proclamation and it was generally observed throughout the city but Monday was also observed as a holiday and practically all business was suspended for the day.

Maysville was unusually fortunate in having two public services on Sunday afternoon. The service held at Beechwood Park was under the auspices of the American Legion while a second service held at the Third Street M. E. church was under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League. The park service was very largely attended while the church service was not so largely attended.

The chief speaker at Beechwood was Hon. M. J. Hennessey, of Augusta, and the speaker at the church was Col. Dan Morgan Smith, of Chicago. Both speakers delivered great addresses and very impressive services were carried out at the park. Mr. Harry Otto, chief officer of the local post American Legion, paid a high tribute to the veterans who had given their life in service and Adjutant Henry Pogue called the roll of the dead. Rev. John A. Davis, of the First Baptist church, offered prayer.

Wreaths and flowers were placed on the graves of the veterans of all American Wars who sleep in the Maysville Cemetery.

ALUMNI WINS ANNUAL GAME WITH HIGH SCHOOL.

The Maysville Alumni won the annual baseball game with the High School team at League Park Monday afternoon by a score of 7 to 4. The Alumni team was made up of former High School and College stars and the school team put up a good game against such a strong line-up. The one bad feature of the game was when Mr. W. Houston Hall broke a leg sliding into home plate making the second bad accident in baseball games here in two days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Diener have moved from the Dodson flats in Third streets to the Davis flats at East Second and Commerce streets.

Thursday evening at the High School auditorium the annual Maysville High School commencement exercises will be held and forty-two graduates will receive their diplomas signifying their successful completion of the city course of study. There will be no commencement speaker for this program but six members of the graduating class will have orations and there will be many interesting features to the program.

All Brides should realize the truth of the old adage "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

DRUNKEN JOY RIDERS PAY FINES IN POLICE COURT

Decoration Day Escapade of Minerva
Men Will Prove Expensive When Damages Are Paid In Full.

An automobile driven by Robert Sneider, of Minerva, and occupied with him and Samuel Riggs, of the same neighborhood, collided with Mr. Shelby Blatterman's machine at Second and Bridge streets Sunday evening badly damaging both machines and slightly injuring Sneider and Riggs. It was discovered that both Sneider and Riggs were drunk and they were arrested and placed in jail.

In Police Court Monday afternoon Sneider was fined $15 and costs on a charge of operating motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He was also fined $25 and costs for speeding and $1 and costs for using insulting language. Riggs was fined $10 and costs on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. In addition to paying the fines Sneider will have to pay probably $300 to put the Blatterman machine in condition and probably a like amount to repair his own machine. He will also be reported to the state authorities and his license revoked.

The men were closely quizzed as to where they purchased their liquor and they confessed to having purchased it from Ike McAllister, local negro, who was immediately arrested on a bootlegging charge.

The body of Woodrow Beckett, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Beckett, formerly of Lee street, who had for some time been making his home with his sister, Mrs. Jennie Dickson, of this city, and who was killed by an automobile in Cincinnati last Thursday evening, was brought here this morning and taken to the home of the sister. Burial was made in the Maysville Cemetery this afternoon with services at the grave.

The little boy was playing in a sand pile in Pearl street, Cincinnati, about 5 o'clock Thursday evening and started to run across the street to the residence where his sister was living when he was run down and instantly killed by an automobile driven by Mrs. Edith Ellerhorst, of Bellevue. The little fellow had accompanied his sister, Miss Mamie Beckett, to Cincinnati about four weeks ago.

The father, Mr. Alva Beckett, was not informed of the child's death until Saturday. He has been employed in a glass works at Marion, Ind., and efforts to locate him had failed to that time. Preparations had been made to bury the little body in Cincinnati but the father desired the body returned to the home here for burial.

MR. W. T. ORR DIES AT HYDE PARK HOME TODAY

Father of Mrs. J. C. Rains died at an Early Hour This Morning at His Home in Cincinnati.

Six-year-old Maysville Lad Killed by Automobile in Cincinnati Is Buried In Maysville Cemetery This Afternoon.

Word was received Monday by Mrs. J. C. Rains of the serious illness of her father, Mr. W. T. Orr, of Hyde Park, Cincinnati, she leaving in the afternoon to be at his bedside. A telephone message tells of his death at 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Mr. Orr was born in Maysville, July 31, 1840, and was therefore in his 80th year. He moved with his family to Cincinnati about 45 years ago and has been identified with the building business continually, having superintended the construction of quite a number of the largest and finest buildings in the Queen City and her suburbs.

His wife, who was Miss Hattie Bliss, and his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Rains, of this city, Mrs. Franklin Weiman of Hyde Park and Mrs. S. E. McDaniel, of Tucson, Arizona, survive him; he also leaves one sister, Mrs. Lucy Lowry, of Connellsburg, Pa.

Two dollars in money and other valuables were missing from the trunk. It appears that the person entering the house was in search of money only as many other things of some value about the house were left untouched.

The front door of the residence was secured by a night lock and by a wooden button. The night lock was broken and the button torn loose from the wall, indicating that the party had thrown his weight against the door and burst it open. Mr. Stephenson says parties in the neighborhood saw a man coming from the house and a warrant was issued for this suspect this afternoon. It was learned that the party was out of the city but he will likely be under arrest before dark.

PAINTER FALLS FROM ROOF; RIBS ARE BROKEN.

Mr. Joseph Campbell, who was engaged in painting the roof of the residence in Front street owned by W. R. Dunbar and occupied by Robert Outten, fell from this roof to the ground this morning and suffered three broken ribs and several bad bruises. Mr. Campbell first fell from the residence to the roof of an adjoining shed and then off onto the ground.

DEAF AND DUMB ARE TAUGHT TO READ

Men Wounded In Neck and Throat Receive Speech Training Through Vocational Education.

Among the thousands of men disabled in the World War, there are about 200 practically totally deaf, and 100 with speech defects caused by wounds in jaw, neck or throat. The majority of these men, while still in army hospitals, received lip-reading and speech training. They are now taking vocational training under the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

Soldiers and sailors who did not receive instruction in lip-reading and lessons for the correction of speech defects are now in training under the supervision of a special agent of the Federal Board.

One of the most interesting speech defect cases is that of Private Henry J. Koopman, who, as a result of an operation for miasoilditis, suffered what the doctors call "complete motor and sensory aphasia." In every day language, he could neither speak nor understand speech. His hospital record showed that before the operation Koopman spoke English without an accent. After his operation he could utter a few German phrases, but his English was completely forgotten. He could neither name nor locate the parts of his body.

"Show me your arm," would say his teacher. Koopman would look vaguely around him.

Koopman's training was started at U. S. Army General Hospital No. 11, at Cape May, N. J., under an expert teacher, Miss May E. Thornton.

At the end of two days the pupil could count to four. In one week he could do simple addition. At the end of two weeks he knew three parts of his body and could speak one connective sentence in English. At this time, he began left-hand writing to develop the speech centers on the right side of his brain. In five months' time he could write with both hands, read simple sentences, write a short letter, and his speech was broken but intelligible. Moreover, he revealed himself as a remarkable card-player and a beautiful dancer.

Mr. Koopman is discharged from the army and receiving treatment at a New York Public Health Service Hospital. The Federal Board for Vocational Education has arranged that his speech training go on under the same teacher with whom he started at Cape May. Miss Thornton now reports that he can talk twenty minutes without stopping.

MAYSVILLE EVIDENCE FOR MAYSVILLE PEOPLE

The Statement of Maysville Residents Are Surely More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers.

Home testimony is real proof. Public statements of Maysville people carry real weight.

What a friend or neighbor says compels respect.

The word of one whose name is far away invites your doubts.

Here's a Maysville man's statement, and it's for Maysville people's benefit.

Such evidence is convincing. That's the kind of proof that backs Doan's Kidney Pills.

Ask your neighbor!

Henry S. Gallenstein, blacksmith, 124 W. Third St., Maysville, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had pains through my back. Doan's Kidney Pills put an entire stop to the pains and my kidneys became well."

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Over four years later, Mr. Gallenstein said: "I haven't had any need of a kidney medicine since I last recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. The benefit they gave me has been permanent."

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN WANTING MONEY AND NEEDING IT NOW

Treasury Department Explains the Present Slump In the Liberty Bond Market of the Nation.

The Savings Department of the U. S. Treasury Department has issued this statement:

It costs money to "want it now." No one knows that fact better than the farmer. He may be in the most prosperous of circumstances, his profits for the year may be practically assured but in many cases there are times when he wants actual cash immediately. And he has to pay for it. That situation does not apply to the farmer alone. It operates also in every line of industry.

Suppose, for example, that in an off year of a farmer when ready cash is scarce, the farmer has an opportunity to buy a well bred Hereford bull at a bargain. He has not the actual cash, so he gives a note for $1,000, due in six months properly secured. It costs him interest on the note. He is good for the note and will pay it. He knows that and so does the man to whom he gives it. But he is not prepared to pay it until it and does not expect to pay it until it is due.

Then the man to whom he gives the note wants cash—and wants it now. He knows he will get his money in six months but he wants it immediately. He takes the note to a bank and discounts it. The bank knows the note is good, that it is fully secured and will be paid at maturity but because the holder wants it now, it will only allow him $850 on the note.

Therefore by wanting it now, the holder of the perfectly good note loses $150 and interest, and the bank because it is willing to wait until the debt is due, makes $150 and interest. Such transactions all over the country are as commonplace and well recognized that the discounting of notes form a large part of the business of many banks.

The present situation as regards the price of Liberty Bonds is exactly similar to that of the note given by the farmer for the Hereford bull. The U. S. Government needed money immediately to pay the costs of the war. It borrowed it from 20,000,000 citizens of the country giving obligations to pay interest and to pay the principal in full when due.

Then a large number of the holders of those obligations decided they wanted the money now,—before it was due. Just as in the case of the note, they knew that the obligation was fully secured, that it would be paid without fail on maturity but because they would not wait, they had to take less than the face value of the obligation.

Like the bank, the investors who are buying Liberty Bonds at present prices know that they are making a sure profit of the difference between the market price and the face value with interest. While necessity has demanded that some or the original buyers of Liberty Bonds should dispose of them even at a discount, many have sold them without necessity, not because they needed the money now but because they wanted it now.

Money so acquired at a discount and a sacrifice has played a large part in the high cost of living so far it has been spent not for necessities but for luxuries and extravagances. Economists and financiers all agree that Liberty Bonds are the best security in the world both to buy and to hold. The discounting of well secured notes by banks is sound business all agree, but the purchase of Liberty Bonds at present prices entails even less risk and greater profit.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Covington, Kentucky, May 10th, 1920. For some time past it has been known to many of my Republican friends throughout the state that I would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

I now desire to make public announcement of that fact.

I keenly appreciate the responsibility and importance of this high position, and, in the event of my election, I will give to the duties of this office the best there is in me and will represent the people of Kentucky and of the United States to the best of my ability.

I desire, also, to take advantage of this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to the many Republicans throughout the state who have, without solicitation on my part, so kindly and generously offered me their support.

RICHARD P. ERNST.

SAVED 60 PER CENT.

The Republican Military Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives reported an army bill which carried appropriations about 50 per cent. lower than the Democratic Secretary of War asked for, and yet the Democratic press complains that Congress is not trying to economize. Saving 60 per cent. is some saving.

LIFE WAS A MISERY TO HER

Says this Woman Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to dozens of my friends and shall always recommend it."—LILLIAN THARP, 824 S. 6th St., Carrollton, Ky.

BRIDGE IS NEEDED.

Now that the automobile has come, and come to stay until it is supplanted by the airship, or some mode of travel we as yet know nothing of, and good roads and good bridges are essential, what is needed more than a bridge connecting Maysville and Aberdeen? It is more than fifty miles to the nearest bridge; there is almost a continual stream of automobiles and other travel from North to South at this point, and this stream would be very greatly increased if there was a bridge spanning the river here. Years ago we heard talk of the L. & N. railway planning such a bridge, and extending their road to Columbus and other cities of the North. We are very sure this would be a paying proposition as it would make a direct line from the North to the South, and we can have some idea of what that means when we see the long line of freight and passenger trains over the N. & W. from Columbus to Portsmouth. But the day of railway construction seems passing away, so why not get our bridge another way, capitalists, automobileists, Maysville and Aberdeen, Mason and Brown counties, Ohio and Kentucky, and the Federal Government, all pulling together to get the bridge at this point. It is not an impossibility, but it needs some one or some club, or something influential to give the movement a push to start it, and keep on pushing until it is a reality. —O. B.

Salvationists Allies of Poor In Combating H. C. of L.

A second hand store maintained by the Salvationists in Richmond, Va., and patronized largely by negroes. (Inset) Miss Catherine Jollie, only colored soldier in the National Headquarters Corps, New York.

"Clothes may be worn, but never out," is the slogan of the Salvation Army second-hand stores maintained in connection with the organization's industrial homes throughout the country. Particularly in these days of high prices the stores have become effective allies of the poorer classes in combating the H. C. L.

In these veritable "Old Curiosity Shops" may be purchased shoes, clothes, hats, furniture, stoves and a great number of other household articles. This material is salvaged and put in usable condition by workers in the industrial homes of the Army. Prices charged for the reclaimed articles are absurdly low, but still are sufficient to cover the wages of the men and women who do the repairing as well as to provide in most cases for the "overhead" cost of maintaining both the Industrial Home and its "retail" store.

The shop shown in the picture is located in the negro section of Richmond, Va. Similar institutions for all races and creeds are found in practically every one of the larger cities in the United States.

A Daughter of Two WorldsEDUCATORS HOLD CONFERENCE ON HIGHWAY EDUCATIONRepresentatives of the Engineering
Schools Meet in Conference With Federal Commissioner of Education.

The United States Commissioner of Education the Honorable P. P. Claxton called in Washington, D. C., on May 14 and 15, a national conference on highway and highway transport education.

The conference was attended by 70 of the leading representatives of the colleges of engineering, heads of state highway departments, the automotive industries and the Bureau of Public Roads. The Educational Secretary of the Conference was Dean F. L. Bishop, of the University of Pittsburgh.

Commissioner Claxton in welcoming the members of the conference pointed out that the industrial and economic needs of today had created new demands for engineering education. At present the need for another type of engineer capable of dealing with the pressing problems of highway construction and highway transportation was becoming more and more acute.

Thomas H. MacDonald, Chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, called attention to the enormous expansion of the federal and state road building programs. These called for more and better engineers than we have been able to obtain in the past. One fourth of all engineering students graduated annually, go into highway work.

Mr. Roy D. Chapin, President of the Hudson Motor Car Company stated that the failure to foresee the present demands of transportation had made it impossible for the railroads to meet the demands for economical transportation especially on the short haul. This places an unusual burden on the motor truck and it makes necessary the training of men capable of dealing with all types of automotive transportation.

Doctor S. P. Capen director of the American Council on Education spoke of the continued expansion of the curriculum in engineering. He warned the educators that undue specialization in highway engineering was not a sound practice and urged that more attention be given to the fundamental subjects of engineering.

Doctor Walton C. John, of the Bureau of Education and Executive Secretary of the Conference said that there are now 150 colleges and universities giving one or more courses in highway engineering. Due to the leadership of Professor Blanchard of the University of Michigan, proper recognition is expected to be given to the new subject of highway transport and cognate subjects.

The conference made definite recommendations as to the number as well as to the education of the men needed in the future by the highway contractors and automobile industries. It was also urged that the states set apart a percentage of the money appropriated for roads to be spent in suitable research in order that the money might be used to the best advantage.

The committee on resolutions asked the Commissioner of Education to appoint a permanent committee of 7 to continue working on the problems developed in the conference.

COMMANDER EVANGELINE BOOTH OPENS
AMERICA'S "UNIVERSITY OF HUMANITY"

The "University of Humanity," just dedicated in New York by Evangeline Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army. Here the Army's officers will henceforth be trained. (Inset) Commander Miss Booth (Left) and members of her staff.

The doors of the first "University of Humanity" have just been opened.

To the blare of trumpets and the march of men and women wearing insignia of crimson and gold the dream of a patriarch was realized the other day in New York, and 100 students began a course in the art of serving their fellow men.

This course will teach them not only sociology, social service and first aid; but only theology and Bible study, but cooking, scrubbing, sweeping and laundrying as well.

This "University of Humanity" is known as the Salvation Army Training College. It was a dream of the founder of the Army, General William Booth. The realization of his dream is a brick and brownstone building upon a height on the outskirts of New York city, a modern building with a lecture room, class rooms, six study rooms, sitting rooms, dormitories and offices.

Commander Evangeline Booth,

When President Wilson declared in his address to the officers of the navy that as between a professional and an amateur he would back the amateur every time, he stated the policy he has followed in his administration as President. The high government offices are filling with amateurs. Down with scientific training, up with experimentation with theories!

Asbestos is the queerest mineral in the world, and is rapidly becoming one of the most important. It is impervious to the fiercest heat, and can also withstand acids which would eat up almost any metal. Today its principal value is for packing marine engines, and there is nothing else to compare with it for this purpose.

Mr. Creel should not criticise Congress if there have been no prosecutions of grafters on government contracts. The Department of Justice is Democratic.

It's a Fact

The American man wants real American style in the clothes he wears.

Why? Because the American figure is different, and requires styles based on its own particular lines — styles to harmonize with manly, athletic simplicity.

And this store has such styles for the men and young men of this community.

CRADLE ROLL DAY
OBSERVED SUNDAY.

Last Sunday was a "red letter" day at the Sunday school of the "Little Brick" church. It was Cradle Roll Day, the church was beautifully decorated with white flowers and white bunting, the program was well carried out. Each mother came forward as the roll of thirty-five babies was called and a white flower was placed on her breast and a ping ribbon on the babe. Mr. H. C. Curran delivered an impressive address to the mothers. The music and recitations were well rendered.

WILLIAM FARNUM AT THE PASTIME TOMORROW.

William Farnum comes to the Pastime tomorrow in his greatest picture "Wolves of the Night." This is a powerful story of love and high finance. A beautiful story of the West as it is today. William Farnum wins the girl of his dreams after many desperate struggles with a band of outlaws.

Mrs. Harry Judd and Miss Lillian Muse of Indianapolis were Decoration Day visitors with their cousin Mrs. J. H. Richardson and family of East Second street. They favored the Third Street M. E. church by singing a duet at each Sunday service.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE SHOWS DECLINE

Memorial Day Sees Attendance at Local Sunday Schools Considerably Decreased.

Sunday School Attendance Secretary J. H. Richardson reports the attendance at local Sunday schools on Sunday as follows:

Third Street M. E.	204
Sedden M. E.	189
First Presbyterian	174
Christian	155
"Little Brick" M. E. South	138
First Baptist	133
First M. E. South	94
Episcopal	16
Scott M. E. (colored)	71
Bethel Baptist (colored)	27
COUNTY
Mayslick Christian	85
Mayslick Baptist	69
Dover Christian	59
Sardis M. E.	46
Washington Presbyterian	36
Germantown M. E. South	31
Pleasant Ridge	27
Dover M. E. South	24

The attendance was not so good as might have been. Memorial Day took many people out of town, then it was the first real hot Sunday, so hot that people were calling for fans and ice-water. Then county schools were very slow about reporting. Could hardly get in touch with any on account of absence from home. By next Sunday we should be a little used to the hot weather and be able to get back to usual form. Only one school kept in the 200 class. There should be at least four. Sedden M. E. was the surprise of the day. That live school moved up to second place. Both East Maysville schools will be in the 200 class if they keep moving.

ICE CREAM SUPPER AT HILLDALE SCHOOL.
